

Above—This bucolic photograph does not indicate very strenuous preparation by Mr. J. Dempsey for his forthcoming debate in Jersey City with M. Georges Carpentier. Mr. Dempsey's little friend is Frederic Welch, Jr., whose father is Mr. Dempsey's host at Summit, N. J.
Copyright, Keystone View.

Mr. Kearns, pictured here lighting his pipe, is keeping a watchful eye on the monkey, so that it may not attack Mr. Dempsey and interfere with the plans for the debate on July 2. Master Frederic, who owns the monkey, also is on guard.
Copyright, Keystone View.

Pigs play an important part in the preparation Mr. Dempsey is making for his argument in Jersey City with Monsieur Carpentier, because the pigs keep him amused and happy.

Above—Edna Hibbard in "The Bad Man," which is continuing its great run at the Ritz Theatre.

In circle—Maxine Brown, who is the prima donna in "The Right Girl" at the Times Square Theatre, one of the season's successes.

Vivian Tobin and her sister, Genevieve, with some of the "props" they have made for the annual show of the Actors' Equity Association to-night at the Metropolitan Opera House.

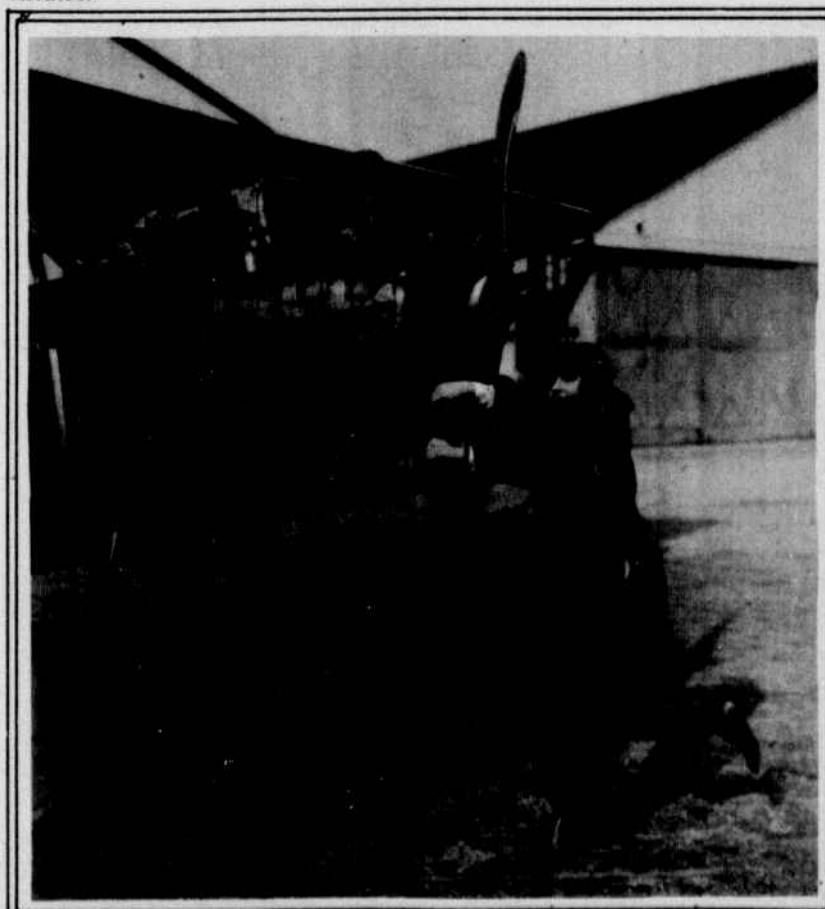

Fairy Justice is the role sung by Helen Rich in Fred Stone's popular show, "Tip Top." Here is how she looks off stage.

Nancy Gibbs and Earle Foxe as they will appear in Gerald Bacon's musical comedy, "Princess Virtue," opening at the Central Theatre to-morrow.

Above—Elsie Mackay, leading woman for Lionel Atwill in David Belasco's production of "Deburau" at the Belasco Theatre.

Here's a new Portia of great promise: Laura Walker, who is appearing in three special matinees weekly at the Longacre Theatre.

She drives her own airplane on week end trips now and other times is fed up with airplane thrills as part of her daily work: Inez Plummer of "The Broken Wing."